We are looking for a driven Deputy Production Manager to join us in our mission to contribute to a greener future. The role is a part of our passionate team based in Skellefteå. By joining us, you will be a key player in ramping up production and contribute to building one of the first large scale European battery factories.

About the job

If you are a passionate leader in the beginning of your leadership career, with high ambitions, this is the role for you. You will work side by side with our Production Managers, playing a key role in supporting and building a world class battery production. Northvolt is growing with over 100 people per month and we are just getting started. Learn what it means to lead in a greenfield environment and get opportunity of an international career in one of the fastest growing startups in Europe.

Key responsibilities include but are not limited to:

- Assist Production Manager in planning, managing, and executing production operations.
- Develop or update standard operating procedures and best practices for production operations.
- Ensure that all equipment, materials, and supplies are readily and continuously available to carry out production processes.
- Address employee concerns and complaints in professional manner as well as interviewing, hiring and training new employees.
- Optimize production operations to meet quality and performance standards.
- Analyze overall budget and implement cost-optimization initiatives, as well as determine resource requirements and work allocation for production operation.

The person we are looking for is driven, caring and structured. You thrive by leading others and work towards common goals. You are used to a high paced work environment and got good time management skills. Qualities that we cherish are flexibility, sense of quality, friendliness, motivation to take on new challenges, grit and a sense of humor.

Northvolt is an equal opportunity employer. We're a diverse group of individuals, united by a common mission, who recognise that while our actions as individuals have a role to play in driving Northvolt towards its goals, we always seek to move forward as a team. We offer you an open and welcoming atmosphere where we win as a team – and fail as a team. Northvolt is growing at the speed of light and we are a strong believer in internal career development. For us it's important to look at your skills and potential, please refrain from including your picture and age with your application to help us with this.
