DATOS DE LA EMPRESA Y UBICACIÓN DEL TRABAJO

The Toonen Reizen coaches have been well-known on the national and international road network for almost 100 years. The fleet now includes 35 luxury coaches in various sizes. They are multifunctional for company and crew transportation, day trips, international shuttles, school trips, vacation trips and national and international events. The fleet also includes buses for sports clubs and buses for partner Flixbus. Toonen Reizen works for a wide variety of target groups, from business to individuals, and from young people to the elderly. In recent years, the company has grown without losing its family-like work environment. We think it's important to maintain family-like work environment so employees enjoy coming to work. We also encourage you to take advantage of the vitality program, such as a sports allowance or help with quitting smoking. Furthermore, the staff association regularly organizes trips and fun activities.

Because of your work, the fleet is always ready to take customers safely to their destinations. We perform all technical operations that a coach needs ourselves, as much as possible. This involves mechanical and electronic components, both prevention maintenance and repair work. The various technical disciplines provide variety in your work. For example, one day you could be working on windshield repairs, gearboxes and leaking toilets, the next day your schedule is unexpectedly changed due to technical problems such as an acute breakdown. In addition to the regular maintenance work, unexpected damage may occur to a bus that needs to get back on the road with a customer, quickly. You know how to set priorities and come up with solutions. To do this, you are able to distinguish between main and secondary issues.

We closely follow the quality standards of our ISO certifications. With the team you also manage the stock and make cost-conscious decisions.
