VITROPLENA

We are looking for a structural engineer (industrial/civil level) keen for an all-round and varied package of tasks. Main activity is structural calcs. Next to that you will also have contact with the clients, produce calculation notes, visit the building site and attend structural meetings with architects/clients.

Principal tasks/responsibilities:

- design & engineering of glazed applications (façades/curtain walls, parapets, glass compositions, walkable glass, etc.)
- design & engineering of structural glass applications (3D glass structures e.g. bridges, swimming pools, stairways, pavilions, etc.)
- production of calculation notes
- project management/follow-up

Profile:

- bachelor/master's degree in structural engineering (construction - industrial/civil level)
- language: English on a professional level
- international mindset: you will work on international projects and will also get in touch with people in an international environment (other languages, cultures, etc.) - international travels to conferences/fairs and for project follow-up are possible.
- no job hoppers - we look for engineers who want a long term career with large growth potential at Vitroplena

- extra, not mandatory language skills (speak/write one of the following languages = an asset, however not required to apply): Dutch, French, Portuguese, Spanish, Arabic

What is offered:

- vacancy open for just-graduated, junior & senior structural engineers (industrial/civil level) - fulltime on the payroll.
- remuneration and benefit packages can be discussed upon contract negotiation. We start from the legal basis in Belgium.
- no experience in glass calculations/façades required. We have a mandatory initial training and guidance trajectory at the start of your career at vitroplena which will give you the required know-how.
